

“Well I never knew that .....”

Next in line is Annie Morris, my thanks to her.

How long have you been playing bowls?

5 years.

Your favourite piece of music?

“Stairway to Heaven” by Led Zeppelin. Annie has always had a rebellious streak in her.

What did you do in your working life?

I worked in the finance office of an engineering firm in Bath for 33 years.

Which living person do you most admire?

David Attenborough. A remarkable man who has entertained and educated us over many years and recently has done so much to raise awareness of the dangers to the planet.

Favourite meal?

A hot Indian Jalfrezi curry.

Favourite holiday destination?

Snorkelling in the Maldives. I am a keen early morning swimmer and I am missing that activity during the pandemic. I have always been keen on sports and outdoor activities in general. In the past I have loved squash, badminton and tennis and now I combine bowls with walking.

Favourite book?

I love readings books by Patricia Highsmith the American novelist and short story writer best known for her psychological thrillers including her series of five novels featuring the character Tom Ripley.

Proudest moment?

In common with others who have been asked this question in this series of interviews, Annie found it particularly difficult to choose one moment. It is clear to anyone who knows her however, that Annie has a great deal to be proud of.

Favourite place to play bowls other than Bembridge?

That has to be Shanklin, for the quality of the green.

Favourite film?

“Titanic” the 1997 film starring Kate Winslet and Leonardo Dicaprio.
